

FREE COACHING for School Leaders

We're Here To Listen

If you would like a confidential thinking space to talk about leading your school or MAT through these challenging times, just ask. No charge.

You can access up to three 1hour virtual coaching sessions with one of our associate coaches, all with school leadership experience.

We're Here So You Can Lead

In an emergency on an aeroplane, when the oxygen masks drop down you are always instructed to put your own mask on before you help others, that's because if you keep yourself well and healthy you can help more people. We are in unprecedented times and as leaders have lots of people looking to us for direction.

Use coaching as your breathing space; to help you think through your situation, look at your priorities, keep yourself healthy and consequently establish how to be at your best to lead your school through these challenges we are facing.

We're Ready For You
